Assaignment-2

1. What are your core values and beliefs?

   Ans: My main values are to support and cooperate with good people and I believe that through my values I will build my relationship with people, and I will get the opportunity to acquire skills.

2. What are your goals and aspirations?

   Ans: My goal is to be a skilled web developer. My aspiration is learning new technology and farmwork.

   I have a desire to know about different farmwork.

3. What are the first steps you will take to build your personal brand?

   Ans: I will take to build my personal brand; First I will make a portfolio. Personally,

   I will share all the qualifications I have and what I have learned.

   I will share what I learn every day on my network (LinkedIn, professional Facebook site).

   So that people can know my skills and what I'm learning.

4. How does personal branding differ from self-promotion, and why is this distinction important?

   Ans: personal branding is a comprehensive and strategic approach to shaping one's identity, self-promotion is a more focused and immediate effort to highlight specific achievements. Personal branding is strategic and considers long-term career goals. A web developer's personal branding includes maintaining a consistent and professional online presence. This involves having an updated portfolio, an engaging LinkedIn profile, even a personal website. While self-promotion is essential for showcasing immediate skills and accomplishments, personal branding for a web developer is a more comprehensive and strategic approach aimed at building a sustained, authentic professional identity over time.

5. What are you most proud of?

   Ans: I can create a complete website using react, Tailwind CSS, firebase and MongoDB. I am most proud of that.